There are four learning goals that graduates of this program are expected to attain. The assessment of these learning goals and the role of the program in helping students attain these goals are presented below.

Learning Goal 1: To develop an advanced understanding of microeconomic theory

Learning Goal 2: To develop an advanced understanding of macroeconomic theory

Learning Goal 3: To develop an advanced understanding of econometric theory and practice

Learning Goal 4: To develop a broad understanding of economic theory, practice and applications within economics