

The New School for Social Research and the NYC Computational Economics & Complexity Workshop

presents 3 agent-based talks
Open to the public

Tuesday, February 24 th 4:00 pm – 5:45 pm Room D734	Dr. Herbert David, University of Bielefeld The effects of skill upgrading in the presence of spatial labor market frictions: an agent-based analysis
Tuesday, March 3 rd 4:00 pm – 5:45 pm Room D734	Shu-Heng Chen, Director, AI-ECON Research Center, Department of Economics, National Chengchi University, Taipei, Taiwan Agent-based Modeling of Product Innovation
Thursday, March 5 th 4:00 pm – 5:45 pm Room TBA	Gur Yarri, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem Economic systems following a major shock: A "microscopic" point of view.

Location:

The New School for Social Research
Economics department
6 East 16th Street Fl 11

Coordinator:

Professor Willi Semmler

Telephone: 212 229-5717 x3050 E-mail: semmlerw@newschool.edu

For more information on agent-based seminars in NYC or to be put on our mailing list, contact Jason Barr
Email: jmbarr@rutgers.edu