

What is the Writing Center?

The Writing Center offers writing tutoring and writing workshops to all undergraduate and graduate students currently enrolled in classes on the Rutgers, Newark campus.

Tutors help students become more independent readers and writers capable of responding well to the demands of writing within the university.

Tutoring is not a drop-off editing or proofreading service. Rather, tutoring is for students who want to strengthen their reading, writing, and research skills. In universities around the world, tutors and their students pursue academic excellence together.

The Writing Center offers specific workshops to support students enrolled in composition courses, as well as those enrolled in Writing Intensive courses. Please come to the Writing Center for a workshop calendar or check our website.

To request more information, sign up for tutoring or to register for workshops, visit Conklin Hall 126 or logon to the Center's webpage: <http://andromeda.rutgers.edu/~nwc>.

Who are the Writing Center tutors?

Tutors are Writing Program faculty and undergraduate and graduate students from a variety of disciplines, selected to help students develop their writing. Student tutors maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or better, are recommended by faculty, participate in on-going training, and are certified through the College Reading and Language Association International Certification Program.

How can tutors help students?

Students learn most if they engage in a variety of activities with tutors, such as tutoring and workshops. Tutors can also help students use the Center's web-site and library.

How can students use the Center?

Tutors can help students: clarify an assignment, generate ideas and writing, review and revise drafts, improve grammar and usage, and strengthen reading and editing skills.

Important Links

Writing Program:

<http://writingprogram.newark.rutgers.edu>

Writing Across the Curriculum:

<http://wac.newark.rutgers.edu/>

Writing Center Staff

Marne Benson
Writing Center Manager
marneben@yahoo.com
973.353.5849

Writing Center Tutors

Mona Abdelnaby, Charles Bivona, LaNeida Briggs, Jordan Burke, Marisol Garcia, Michele Jelley, Jaime Karnes, Nadav Lipkin, Nerlande Nicolas, Lauren Petrino, Sidra Sheikh, Courtney Stanton, Lionel Wynter

Writing Center Services & Programs

Tutoring: One to one and in small groups. E-tutoring also available.

Workshops on writing research papers, editing, reading critically, writing under pressure, and more. See workshop calendar for more information.

Graduate Writing & Research

Project: A collaborative project of the Graduate School, the Writing Center, the John Cotton Dana Library, the Program in American Language Studies and the College of Nursing offering workshops and tutoring for students enrolled in graduate programs on the Newark campus.

Rutgers University's Newark campus has been ranked first in the nation among national universities for diversity of its student population in US News and World Report's "Best Colleges". The Writing Center celebrates this diversity in our conversations about writing and ideas and through a pursuit of excellence.

Students can:

Register for a weekly tutorial.

Sign-up for drop-in tutoring.

Attend any of the Center's workshops. (Workshop calendar published separately.)

Use the Center's library and computers.

Access our website at:
<http://andromeda.rutgers.edu/~nwc>

Contact us:

- Conklin 126
- 973.353.5847
- nwc@andromeda.rutgers.edu

Rutgers,
The State University

Newark Writing Center

Conklin Hall – Room 126

175 University Avenue
Newark, New Jersey 07102

telephone: 973.353.5847

email:

nwc@andromeda.rutgers.edu

Website:

<http://newark.rutgers.edu/~nwc/>

